THE SUNFLOWER

TOPEKA HIGH SCHOOL, TOPEKA, KANSAS

1946

LESS than a century ago the land on which Topeka now stands was unbroken prairie. Then as "the tide of empire" westward took its way, the ox-teams of the emigrants plodded across the hills of eastern Kansas, only to vanish in the '70's before the steady advance of the great railroads.

With the coming of railroad transportation Topeka's future was assured. Four railroads built lines through the capital of Kansas, one of them establishing here its main offices and shops. These railroads, together with the other industries attracted to the city by its excellent transportation facilities, have made Topeka what it is today—a city affording more than usual opportunities for prosperity, service, education, and enjoyment.

Topeka High School, like every other school in Topeka, owes its many advantages to the standards set by the builders of these railroads, who combined utility with beauty, and strength with vision.

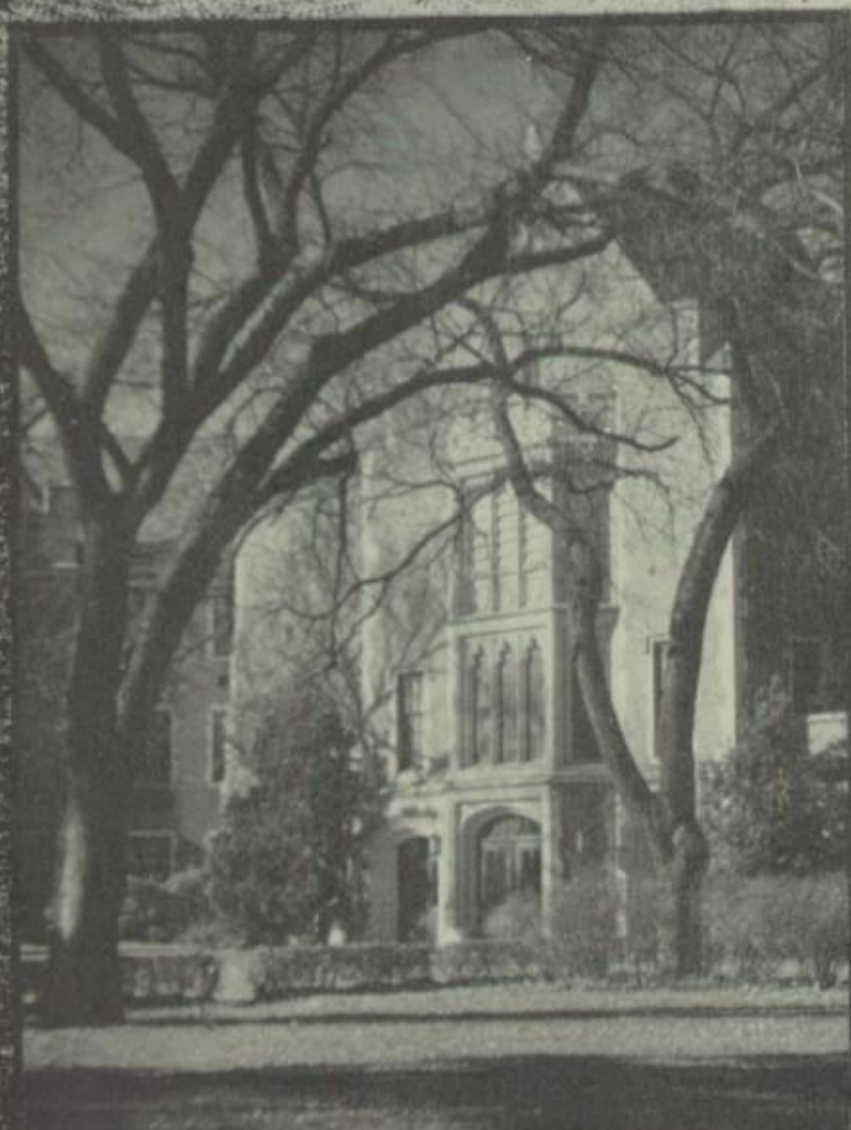

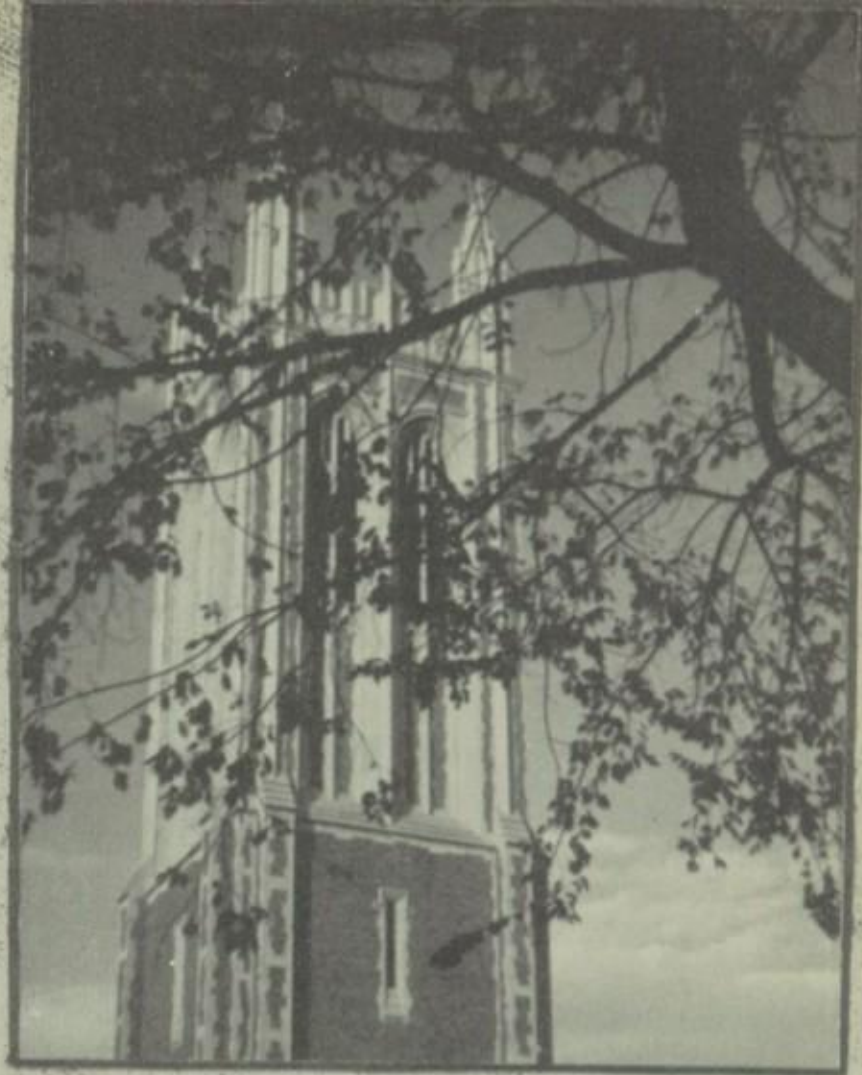

To the railroads, therefore, Topeka High School dedicates the 1946 Sunflower.

Scenes Seniors Will Remember

Perhaps the future may make the aerial view of Topeka High School as familiar as the entrances on Tenth Street or Polk or Western. Yet, no matter what pictures of Topeka High linger in memory, every Senior will carry with him recollections of certain parts of the building which he has known and loved—parts which he feels particularly his own.

Perhaps he will remember most clearly—

The auditorium, with its seating by classes . . . the slender arches and rich coloring . . . the deep stage and varied lighting . . . the cloud machine . . . a background of shining horns for many musicians . . . the plays.

The gymnasium, with rows and rows of shouting, clapping, swaying basketball fans . . . cheerleaders . . . the band . . . the tries for basket . . . the resonant bell.

The cafeteria, noisy and friendly . . . long lines waiting their turn . . . clinking glasses, bus boys, hosts and hostesses.

The library, quiet even when crowded and over-sociable . . . beautiful with dark, gleaming tables and beamed ceiling . . . a Christmas tree by the fireplace . . . easy chairs . . . books, magazines, and more books.

The veranda . . . the breath-of-fresh-air break in a long day . . . a riot of color, frolic, and blissful sunning . . . a view to remember—close at hand, the surrounding evergreen shrubbery; beyond, the stretch of lawn; above, the beloved Tower and the Chimes, pealing

*Dear Lord, our God,
Be thou our guide:
Till life shall cease
No foot shall slide.*

SENIOR OFFICERS

Boys returning and boys leaving making us both happy and sad . . . more cars seen around school, tin can and otherwise . . . all the gas we want . . . pie throwing at the "T" club Varsity . . . confusion backstage at the All-School Party . . . the "fight" at the Senior boys' formal when Don Dorrell walked in menacingly . . . more men gone as the new semester begins . . . first operetta in four years, H.M.S. Pinafore . . . a wonderful prom and a terrific Senior play. We end our high school days joyously, but thankful that we may continue our education in a world free from war.

As Dean Campbell graduated in mid-year, Don Taylor took his place as Senior Representative.

Pepsters take to the floor, making a sign that boosts game

JUNIOR OFFICERS

Three-way pigtails... frantic campaigning and the ever-present card collectors... hours of talking at the Hub... yelling till you're hoarse at football games... crowded bus rides to Wyandotte and Ottawa... the best Junior-Senior prom ever... warming frozen fingers at bonfires... pancake makeup brewers... the class play, a complete success... more talk in the Snack Shop... wishing your assembly seats were back up in the balcony... pink, green, white formals forming the daisy chain... with all this in the background the Juniors will have little difficulty in taking their position as the class of '47.

EXECUTIVES

Marlin S. Casey, Kenneth McFarland, Mrs. Thelma Mifflin, Charles R. Bennett, Mrs. David Neiswanger, Kenneth B. Hobbs, Kelsey H. Petro, and A. H. Saville make up the Topeka Board of Education.

City School

ADMINISTRATORS

Dr. Kenneth McFarland, Superintendent of Schools

Under the guidance of this group, Topeka schools have risen to national prominence. Dr. Kenneth McFarland, superintendent of schools, and M. J. Whitson, assistant to the superintendent, frequently have visited the school during the year keeping in close touch with the activities and ideas of students and faculty.

At Dr. McFarland's annual series of meeting with classes, suggestions were made for revision of the reporting room system and absence policy, and for the creation of a new Pep Club. School policy, and plans for the future also were outlined at the meetings.

Topeka last Spring, mourned the death of J. W. F. Hughes, who served on the School Board fifteen years. His position was filled by Kenneth Hobbs, the only new member of the Board of Education.

Topeka High

SCHOOL DIRECTORS

Next fall, E. B. Weaver will assume the duties of Principal of Topeka High School. For the past two years he has been Acting Principal, managing at the same time to supervise this large school and to study for another college degree.

This has been the last year at Topeka High for Vice-Principal S. H. Stark, who served the school system twenty years before resigning this spring to enter the insurance business. Mr. Stark has been Vice-Principal since 1937, except for the year 1943-44, when he was Acting Principal. He has made many contributions to the school, among them the ripple system, enrollment plan, game cadet organization, and the host system in the cafeteria.

Miss Annabel Pringle, this year, has continued to give her sound advice to college aspirants and scholarship seekers, while carrying on her work as Dean of Girls. Miss Pringle sponsors the Mothers' Tea, College Day, and Career Night; and is on hand always when students or faculty members need comfort or counsel.

In Memoriam

With smiling, heart-warming human-ness, Mrs. Verna Nims taught English classes for ten years in Topeka High School. In Concordia, where she previously had been a teacher, she had established a course in creative writing that reflected her own notable creative ability. Though ill health broke into her work in the last two years, Mrs. Nims' interest in school friends continued pulsing and vibrant to the end.

PLEA

*Are butterflies, then, fickle
When they drift from bud to flower?
Can you ask the sun to shadow
The same pattern every hour?*

*Nothing in the world is constant;
Partings precede meetings. So
Let me try my wings once more, dear.
Do not hold me when I go.*

Meet them—

YOUR FACULTY FRIENDS

And this is the faculty who through three and a half years of teacher shortages, paper shortages, eraser shortages, and the ever-present genius shortage, hypnotized students into learning. This year, however, began with a fairly complete staff and the Home Room System, with all the trimmings! This system was created so the students might have a close personal contact with one teacher through his entire course and at the same time be with students of his own classification.

Unfortunately for the Sophomores, graduation requirements were raised by the faculty to 36, beginning with the class of '48. Sophs will have to work harder—but think how well-informed they will be! Incidentally, these Sophomores are the first class to go through the year without the invasion of "Sub-Sophs" at mid-year. The faculty in most cases carried classes from September to May without change.

Additions are Mrs. Betty Hamlet, who replaced Mrs. Gladys Bangerter after Christmas, and Miss Dorothy Lutton. Mrs. Alice Clare Wright joined the social studies department, and Mrs. Irwin Cowger took over Miss Ella P. True's study hall. Miss True and Miss Edna Austin retired last Spring. Mrs. Mabel Kingsley Caulfield, married last Summer, returned for one year.

Miss Mary Hopkins became chairman of Counseling Group V, releasing Miss Robena Pringle, who supervised the revision of the social studies curriculum.

Miss Ruth A. Stout was "lent" part-time to Washburn University at mid-semester and, to the distress of Topeka High, Washburn is not returning the loan. Miss Stout will teach full time at Washburn next year.

Who Keep Us Rolling THE OFFICES

Little notes from every office, one pink, the rest white . . . then Mr. Fink's voice inquiring, "Where are you supposed to be?" as you dodge down the hall sixth hour.

The switchboard in the office making a racket . . . a sojourn to the nurse's office with a mouthful of hot water as a test looms near . . . soon you really do feel sick . . . too much hot water!

Without the offices and the people in them, school would be extremely irregular, maybe even non-existent. Things are kept in smooth running order by the office personnel, and it's no easy job.

Remember the bang-up All-School Party and the Homecoming royalty... the skit with the girls in football suits and leggy boys in skirts? Well, the Student Council gave you all those, besides College Day and several varsities.

During the Spring semester the biggest thing on the calendar was getting student opinion on a pep club and writing a Pep Club Charter.

President Russ Davis enthusiastically led the Council through an active and profitable year.

Representative Council, composed of students elected by third hour classes, has for its purpose the creation of better understanding between students and administration. Student opinion has full expression in the Council.

Besides discussing school problems, Council members took over the sale of Activity tickets, accounting for 1263. They also sold Junior play tickets and Trojan decals.

Jim Powell was Speaker of the House, and Carol Steenson was secretary. Miss Frances Hutchison sponsored the Council.

Advisory Council members decided to have a party, and they got busy and gave one—just like that! They showed the same efficiency in everything they sponsored. When the Ramblers were to be honored with a post-season banquet, the Advisory Council helped with the plans, and everyone said the banquet was the best ever. Council members also worked hard on the All-School party program and were in charge of the dance following in room 332.

PHYLLIS WHEATLEY GIRL RESERVES

A Li'l Sister party started the Phyllis Wheatley Girl Reserves rolling this year. Upperclassmen introduced the Sophs to high school life and showed them how to have a good time.

On May 1, the girls got together and entertained their mothers with a Mothers' Day tea.

Officers elected in the Spring were: President, Barbara Wheeler; Vice-President, Deola Davis; Secretary-Treasurer, Delores Hill; Pep Squad Head, Sarah Jaco.

THE JUNIOR PROM

"Flying Down to Rio" and ending up in the middle of a harem, things started going at the Junior-Senior Prom program. Dancing by Ann Lundgren and four court dancers, a Hopak number by Pat Webster, songs by "The Solid Six," and a tap routine by Dorothy Paramore and Jerry Perkuhn highlighted a program that Juniors and Seniors won't forget.

Dancing followed in the cafeteria, decorated in Rio style, to the music of Alan Hein and his band.

Older Girls Sponsor MOTHERS' TEA

Washing dishes is just as much a part of giving a tea as pouring, as the Senior Girls' Council members found out. And they've poured and washed dishes several times this year.

One of the first jobs the girls tackled was Sophomore Orientation. They helped with enrollment, conducted the Sophomore induction, sponsored the All-Girl Party, and gave a tea for the Sophomores' mothers. When the winter semester was well along, the Council organized the Sugar and Spice Club; and in April came Career Night, with the girls doing their part in the preparations. The Council is under the direction of Miss Annabel Pringle.

Doesn't it give a wonderful feeling to hear the music booming from the Hub? Don't you have that "can't wait" feeling to get in on all the fun? Cokes, sandwiches, dancing, giggling, talking, noise, noise, noise . . . but that's why we go there! We won't forget how the football boys got dizzy and stumbled around after the "broom" game, and Wayne Pierson in a sweater and skirt at the Hallowe'en doin's. Officers from Topeka High are: Russ Davis, President, and Virginia Butler in charge of the newsletter. Everyone agrees that Fred Officer and Larry Adkins really know how to help us have a good time at the Wagon Wheel.

On those evenings when the homework's all done, the Downbeat and the Clock are the perfect places to go. There are always people to chat with. The ping pong tables are always occupied, and the juke boxes are usually sounding out with something really groovy. Once in a while there's a hot band there, and the jitterbugs show the rest how. With everything the Downbeat and the Clock have, it all adds up to Fun for Everyone.

"Janie, dear, you're so sweet!"
Everyone agreed with the theme song of the All-School play, "Janie," before the evening of October 25 was over. Janie (Missy Johnson) led confused Scooper (Bing Coffman) and suave Dick Lawrence (Kay Keller) a merry chase, complicated by twenty-odd soldiers, one red-haired sailor, and a big party "for the boys." Her friend Bernadine (Billie Strickland) found romance with "personality boy" Dead Pan (Roger Williamson), and Donna Knowlton "cha'med" Henry Bradshaw with her Southern accent.

The sacrifice of the year was made by Lowell Curry, who "ritted" his hair red for the part of Mickey.

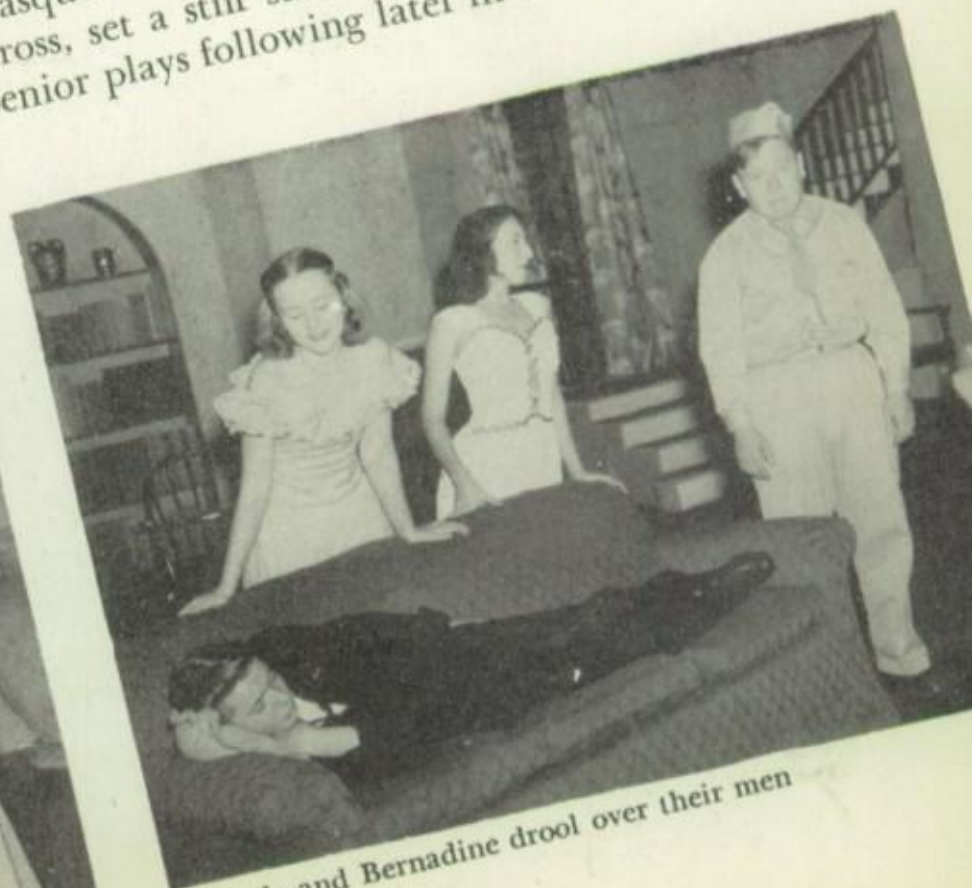

The All-School play, sponsored by the Masque and Wig Club and the Junior Red Cross, set a stiff standard for the Junior and Senior plays following later in the year.

"YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU"

"Why can't we be like other people!" wailed Alice, as Penny played word games and the Kirbys suddenly lost their appetite.

With police storming about upstairs and explosions rocking the house from the basement, the Sycamores spent a quiet evening in jail for a change.

Complete with Russian accents, a ballerina, whiskers, snakes, and "love dreams," "You Can't Take It With You" raced along at a lively pace with something different every minute. The audience chuckled its way through a play of which Seniors can well be proud.

"To my quiet Chester. Still waters run deep." Because of these words, an amused audience watched Roger "Chester Binney" Williamson splurge about in hot water for two hours the evening the Juniors presented the play "The Whole Town's Talking."

While Chester sowed his wild oats in a hurry, Ethel's dream of marrying a "worldly" man was realized. Things were going along beautifully till Letty Lythe appeared and ably upset the oat bin. From then on, confusion was master in the Simmons household. Papa Simmons, to complicate things even more, tried to learn a little on the sly from Ann "Sadie Bloom" Lundgren.

When the evening ended, the whole school was talking about a Junior play that topped them all.

Twenty to 14 was the final score, with Topeka on the long end. The high-ranking Enid, Oklahoma, Plainsmen couldn't make steady gains against the Trojan line, and D. L. "Heavy" Erwin's footballers pushed across three counters to stage the upset. Probably no Topeka season has had a more climactic ending.

The nine-game schedule was tough, including five of Kansas' top ten teams and the one powerful visitor. The record of three losses, one tie, and five wins proved that the Trojans had played a lot of good football.

Ottawa's balanced squad turned back Troy 13 to 6 for the first time in 15 years. A fast, hard-hitting, undefeated Lawrence team stopped the Topekans by a 7-0 count, and the perennially strong Wichita East Blue Aces eked out a 7-6 win at the Homecoming game.

On the other hand, the Trojans beat Salina 6-0 in the season opener; ran over St. Joe Christian Brothers, 38-0; walloped Wichita North to a 47-6 tune; and had their own way with St. Joe Central, 52 to 7. In a hard-fought battle Wyandotte tied Topeka 7-7.

Topeka hits trouble

Topeka High's B team, coached by Chet Davenport, worked long hours at Chandler Field, drilling on Trojan-type offense, blocking, tackling, gaining the football know-how that makes winning teams. -----------	---------------

Playing what was probably the toughest independent schedule in the state, Topeka's 1945-46 basketball edition won 12 games, lost six, and grabbed a state regional crown before bowing out of court competition in the state tournament.

Coach Chet Davenport boasted a well-rounded squad, which could score on five cylinders with its famous "roll" and was able to handle defense as well. The Trojans Hutchinson and Northeast fell before Topeka to open the season, but Lawrence reversed matters in the third game. Newton and Wyandotte also defeated Troy; but later in a brilliant winning streak, the Trojans overcame Newton at Newton for the first time since 1929, smashed Lawrence 34 to 27, and downed the Bulldogs 36 to 22.

Coach Ad Miller's B team, which gives a preview of things to come, finished the season with a present record of 16 wins in 17 tries. The only loss was to Wyandotte B, a quintet the Topekans defeated in a later game. Each player hit the basket with consistency and the team showed rare class on defense.

RAMBLERS, INTRAMURALS

Playing with only two Seniors on the squad, the Ramblers were, as usual, one of the strongest Negro teams in the state. The season had a fine ending, as the boys took four out of their last five tussles and grabbed third place in the Kansas and Missouri conference tournament. Adrian King led the scoring with 161 points, followed by Harvey, who gained 142.

Backing the team the Rambler cheerleaders, composed of six girls—Georgia Dixon, Doreen Douglas, Dolores Hill, Sarah Jaco, Mary Newman, and Barbara Lee Wheeler—composed their own yells and practiced twice a week at the Downbeat. Accompanying the team on several trips, they went to St. Joseph, Mo., Kansas City, Mo., and Leavenworth.

Wheeler, Jaco, Newman, Douglas, Hill, Dixon

Intramural basketball was divided into two leagues, one composed of Juniors and Seniors, the other of Sophomores. In the older group, play was dominated by the "Big Five" with its high scoring Gene Markley. However, in the post-season tournament the "Icicles" took out the Big Five and went on to win the 1946 crown. Paul Smith accounted for a big share of the Icicles' markers. The Sophomore championship fell to the "Maroons" after several stunning last-game upsets. Eugene Davis was the league's top scorer.

TENNIS

W. J. Barnett's tennis squad in early-season practice suffered from bad weather and lack of courts, but the netsters worked hard and were ready to go in early April. They toppled Emporia in their initial match, and Salina in their second. With one returning letterman and several other experienced players, the team looked forward to inter-school matches and the state tournament.

TRACK

Troy's 1946 track team, bolstered by lettermen, appeared particularly strong in the running events. Coach D. L. Erwin's charges swept their first meet against Wamego with points to spare, but soon ran into inclement weather. However, the Trojans took second at K. U. and Baker, and Topeka won a five-school meet at Haskell.

GOLF

Hampered at first by poor weather the golf team came through with flying colors after it got started. The boys took second place at a quadrangular meet held in Topeka, April 12, and third in another four-way meet at Emporia, April 23.

Lettermen returning from last year's team are Bob Estes, Bob Knight, and Keith Holt, with newcomers Wayne Pierson and Ray Beers making additional rough competition for rival teams.

"T" CLUB

Under the leadership of D. L. Erwin and President Richard Pringle, this year's "T" Club sponsored a "Dogpatch" varsity with the best music and floor show money could buy. With the dollar a year dues choked from poverty-ridden members, the "T" Club had a steak dinner, a movie, and Dick Godlove as an after-dinner speaker.

Members must have earned at least one letter, must undergo initiation, and if weaker than the treasurer, pay a year's dues.

BASEBALL

C. A. Hays had four returning lettermen and a strong nucleus from American Legion ball upon which to fashion the 1946 baseball nine. The batsmen took their first game from Haskell 7 to 0, and repeated 16 to 0 later in the season. They also took a double-header from Rockhurst. With a second place state record in '45, the Topekans were favorites to capture the 1946 Kansas high school title.

GIRLS' GYM

Gym teachers take time out

For a while your muscles were sore and your back ached after the strenuous gym hour. Then you got used to it and even liked it a little, especially on the warm days when you went outdoors. Remember how you thought up excuses to keep from taking a shower, and how you never quite had enough time to curl your hair back up?

Even though gym was hard on the curls, it was good for you and you knew it. A healthy body is quite as important as a well developed mind. In the world of tomorrow the "Girls in Green" will be able to take their places well equipped.

Whoosh!

What we wonder is, did it go in?

We must be winning

Remember how you yelled yourself hoarse at football games, and then wore yourself out cheering at basketball games? Then, sometimes, you were too busy watching Ann Lundgren and Missy Johnson turn handsprings and do those tricky boom-rahs even to gasp. In the fall, Missy, Ann, Peggy Scott, Lowell Curry, Chuck Green, and Don Taylor were elected cheerleaders by the student body. When Lowell graduated in January and Chuck resigned, alternates Charlotte Reiber and Joy Scrinopskie took their places.

Perched at the gates of every football and basketball game, Game Cadets call their familiar, "Let's have your tickets, please." Cadets managed the ticket sales for games all year, and made a bus trip to Wyandotte for the game there. Under the sponsorship of S. H. Stark, they elected Nancy Smith as the Fall General Manager and Phyllis Hadley as General Manager in the Spring.

G. C. Rieniets, head of Concession Stands, arranged for busses to take the workers to Ward. Marilyn Erwin and Carol Steenson are captains, and Jim Killinger and George Walrafen are managers.

With new members eligible after every play, Masque and Wig now has more members than any other club in school. It co-sponsored, with the Junior Red Cross, the Junior play "Janie" and also lent a hand at the Thespian initiation. Miss Gertrude Wheeler directs the group.

Jim Powell, president, led the Thespians through another lively year. In December an informal party was held for former Thespian, Don Dorrel, with the juke box for dancing and sandwiches made by the president himself. Tom Scott was elected vice-president, and Lenora Bachman juggled the books around to keep out of the red. Thespian Troupe 210 is sponsored by Miss Wheeler.

Earning and Learning VOCATIONAL CLASSES

Distinct and complete in itself, yet the center of the public school vocational program, the Trade School at 620 Harrison offers Topeka High School Juniors and Seniors the opportunity to gain training in a trade and at the same time to work toward a high school diploma.

Acquired in 1944 by the Topeka Board of Education, the Trade School has helped boys needing pre-induction training and veterans wishing training for post-war jobs. It is also open to Topeka High students who have shown marked aptitude for certain trades.

The Trade School's entire program is carried on with the advice and counsel of both employers and employees in each vocation, and the school has the cooperation of the trade organizations of the area. P. W. Chamness is director and administrator.

Although most of the vocational classes are held at the Trade School, several are conducted in Topeka High School by teachers on the regular high school faculty. The Cooperative Part-Time Retail Selling class is taught by Kenneth H. Meyers; Cooperative Office Practice Machines by H. D. Definitely feminine, this year's Junior Press club was started late in the first semester for Sophomores and Juniors interested in journalism. Guest speakers, work on the high school publications, and the Junior Press edition of the World took up the time of the journalists-to-be. Dorothy Murphy was president; Doris Pressman, vice-president, and Marilyn Ward, secretary-treasurer. Peggy Ann Scott was student sponsor.

Pink call slips, attendance cards—all the routine of high school life passed through the hands of the proctors this year. Office proctors, attendance proctors, gym proctors, and those in the nurse's office worked together efficiently. Fourth hour proctors were organized into Service Club to check doors and advise students against leaving the building without passes. They also gave information to visitors and asked cooperation from students who were excused but loitered in the halls.

"Farewell, my love," mourns Marvin as he leaves for the brig

Dropping anchor for two evenings of entertainment at Topeka High, H.M.S. Pinafore brought with her a sea-roving cast and 80-odd sailors and chorus girls. Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta was directed by Don M. Gleckler and presented with the assistance of the Trojan orchestra. Beautiful stage settings made by John H. Hoehner's classes completed the nautical air.

The plot concerned the troubles that can befall when rank and class distinction hinder true love. After Little Buttercup rectifies an old error, the characters "live happily ever after." When the curtain went down for the last time and His Majesty's ship set sail for some other stage, Topeka High School settled down to prosaic routine on dry land.

Don M. Gleckler moulds orchestra and chorus into one marvelous finale

"For he's the captain of the Pinafore"

Appearing in Public THE VOCALISTS

Songsters from Topeka High traveled far and wide this year. The District Music Festival at the University of Kansas drew the soloists and ensembles. The Madrigal singers took their old English folk songs to Seneca. Groups visited junior Highs and presented programs before many civic clubs. Concerts were given for conventions and as part of church services. Don M. Gleckler, vocal director, took his musicians through Winter General Hospital wards. A caroling led by the glee clubs replaced the traditional Christmas pageant. An out-of-town trip climaxed the year for the senior glees.

Peace! "For six long years . . . the butcher Mars had laid his heavy thumb upon the scales of justice." But the ingenuity of free men finally won out.

At Topeka High, elections proceeded with only a little more than the usual political maneuvering. Boys played thrilling football games.

The jalopy parade served as a reminder of the late and unlamented war, while the All-School play "Janie" showed one of the more amusing results of army life.

It has been an honor to serve you during one of the most portentous periods in history.

Don Libert

Weber, Libert, Snyder, Stolpe, Koch

Success in many forms highlighted the Spring semester and made news for the World. First there was H. M. S. Pinafore, then College Day, and the Junior class production, "The Whole Town's Talking." In between these activities came the announcement that Mr. Stark would retire.

The State Basketball tournament was top story for two weeks, followed by the Senior play "You Can't Take It With You," which with the prom set off the stream of Senior activities winding up the semester, and putting to bed the 1946 Spring World.

Kenny Dinklage

Seated: Clemmons, Scott, Scott, Anderson, Dinklage, Welty, Sisco, McCaig, Ward. Standing: Mowry, Peyton, Hill, Jennings.

Don Libert

Clipping along with an "A" average for three years, Don Libert took on the editorship of the Fall World besides carrying numerous other school duties. In the Spring, he was business manager of the World. Don is a Senior with a sincere smile—one of those people who likes everybody.

Fall and Spring THE WORLD

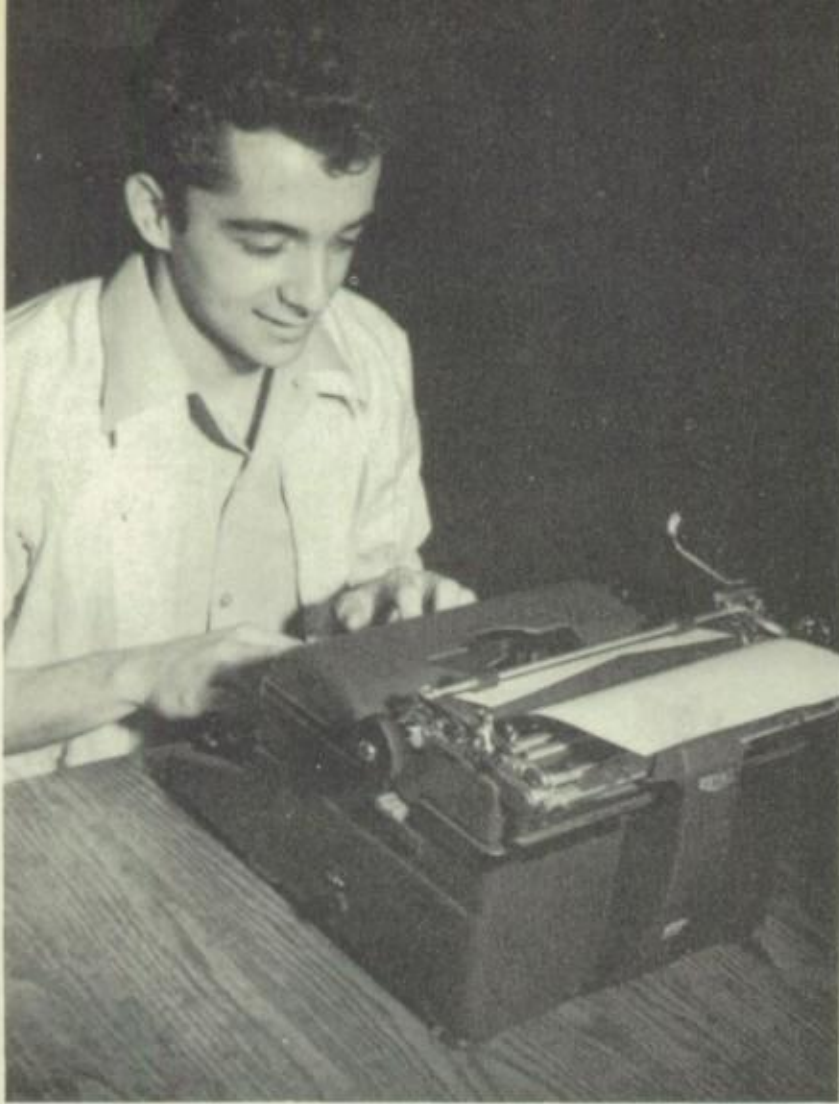

Kenny Dinklage

Kenny Dinklage was president of the Junior Press Club in his Sophomore year, and in his Junior year became editor of the World. With lots of drive and ambition, Kenny directed the Spring World, full steam ahead. His staff liked him because he is understanding and is fun to work with.

With a friendly grin and jaunty gait, Doris Granger is usually on her way to room 219, where she has been a busy girl this year. She was business manager of the Fall World and was one of the business managers of the Sunflower. Besides her other activities, she still has time for friends and more friends.

Business staff in conference

No, you weren't allowed even a peek at the annual and wild guesses about it were circulating all over school. Georganne Robb, Doris Granger, Joan Whitney, and Kathleen Connolly strove to publish a Sunflower that will remind you of the fun and excitement you've had all year. Staff photographers showed up where you least expected them to get shots of you blowing bubbles, or your best friend with her mouth wide open, and of the boy in your home room perched on top of his jalopy. So here it is—presented with the hope that you'll turn the pages and think, "Oh yes. I remember that—I really had fun that year."

Brainy, Fluent, Poised THE DEBATERS

Striving for better citizenship, expression, and knowledge of the world around them, members of the Debate Team highlighted their season debating in tournaments at Pittsburg, Hutchinson, Shawnee Mission, Wyandotte, Salina, and Wellington, and in district and state meets.

Senior debaters Sally Anderson, Norman Collins, Noel Fleming, Jack Hill, Pat Jackson, and Don Libert wound up three successful years of debate by winning first place at Pittsburg, second at Wyandotte, Shawnee Mission and the district.

In addition to competitive debating the squad also gave speeches for many civic clubs and entered the Kansas University speech clinic in the fall, and the speech festival in the spring.

Miss Ruth A. Stout coached the debaters and took them on their trips. She is responsible for the training of the winning teams, and the coaching for public speaking of the squad.

Debaters earned their expenses by operating the Snack Shop with the invaluable help of Miss Georgina Bleakley.

Junior Red Crossers have had their fingers in a lot of big pies this year. Their membership drive brought in the entire school 100 per cent and their war bond sales netted more than $8000. The Junior Red Cross took on the ticket sales for the Junior play "Janie," for which a capacity crowd turned out. They also collected more than three tons of wastepaper during the year and sponsored the clothing drive in the Spring.

Yes, the Red Crossers have been busy. Besides doing all these big things, they contributed almost $500 from their funds to worthy causes and did little things to bring some of the comforts of home to service men. Officers are: President, Bob Kimmel; Vice President, Bing Coffman; Secretary, Doris Granger; and Treasurer, Russ Davis.

THRESHOLD OF A NEW WORLD

New courses in professional training coupled with a strong liberal arts tradition enable Washburn to prepare its students for the demands of a new world. The degree of Bachelor of Business Administration and courses in aeronautics, radio, and photography are now available to undergraduates. The Law School is rapidly approaching pre-war strength. An enlarged faculty keeps Washburn classes small and individual contacts possible.

To my best and most wonderful pal
Certainly hope you stay in Japan a while.

I really enjoyed those summers in Arkansas.

We really had loads of fun.
Hope we can continue to be good friends always.

Please be good and don't ever change.

I like you as you are Marian

Dear Vir
It was too bad
you couldn't have en with us this year be here at I'm glad you will never forget next year! I will never forget the good times we had in Arkansas last summer. I hope we have a lot of good times together in the future.
Lots of Luck to a wonderful, wonderful girl.
Love
Jo Anna

Dear Virginia,
Maybe we'll be going here together next year.
Let's hope so.

Love n' stuff
Carolyn
"Casey"
